ANOTHER ELECTION

Ere the Town Election is concluded in Appomattox, voters will have to face a decision as election of candidates for Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General. That primary will come up in July, with General Election in November.

There has been virtually no local interest thus far in the Primary. Usually, and traditionally, there are public rallies in behalf of one candidate or another. However, this time, we believe that public interest will increase as the Primary date nears, and that once again Appomattox County will come up with a creditable vote, and we predict a Harrison-Godwin-Button win.

TRAVEL SAFETY

Worldwide discussion as to the tangible potential of the travels of our President and other high officials have reached unprecented volume in recent days. The President has been to Canada, France, Austria and England. The Vice-President has toured over Southeast Asia. The Secretary of State has covered Geneva and other stops in Western Europe. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson is in South America. Our top officials have been living out of "suit-cases" for weeks.

Our comment, concerns another angle. That is, that the top nations of the world now do not hesitate to send their ruling officials on tremendous trips, many at the same time.

This is testimony to the security in air travel for top officials. There are alarming reports of air crashes, ing it appears that the government does not fear them, as pertains to the safety of top officials.

Subscription rate: $2.00 a year, payable in advance.

PROF. TITUS W. BEASLEY

One of the most outstanding sons of Appomattox County is our esteemed friend, Professor Titus W. Beasley. We note with pleasure that he has recently completed thirty years of splendid service as Professor of History at South-western Baptist College, Bolivar, Missouri. On that occasion, he was honored guest at a testimonial dinner, and was showered with acclaim for his distinguished career.

No list of the "outstanding sons" of Appomattox would be complete without the name, high on the list, of this brilliant Virginian.

We wish him many more years of service in his chosen field of service.

TOWN ELECTION TUESDAY

Next Tuesday is Town Election Day for the Town of Appomattox. As has been our policy, we do not undertake to formally sponsor the cause of any one candidate or any group of candidates in a Town election. It is our comforting belief that those living in a town know well the records and abilities of their neighbors, and therefore are well able to make the best possible choice. So, we salute all those who have offered for town offices, and have every confidence in the choice to be made next Tuesday.

Let Appomattox press forward and accept its opportunities, and strive to keep "the Growing Tradition" in momentum. You just do not stand still—you move forward or backward. We urge that there be a full vote next Tuesday, and we will abide by the decision of fellow citizens.

"The goal the administration sought— which is to adjust production of feed grain by converting 20 per cent of the acreage into sound, soil conserving practices—now has been reached," the Secretary said.

"As of last Friday, 20,600,000 acreas of corn and feed grain land has been signed up by almost a million farmers for soil conserving use, and the program still has nearly two weeks to go before it closes.

"I am pleased that the farmers have responded to the program in such a positive manner. It is heartening to me that the first piece of major legislation proposed by this administration enacted by the Congress and put into immediate operation by the Department of Agriculture, has reached its goal in less than five months.

NEW BOOKS IN COUNTY LIBRARY

New Books In The County Library:

The Agony and the Estacy—of Michaelangelo, Florence and Rome at the height of the Italian Renaissance are the colorful Michelangelo is portrayed as a man burdened with the demands of his family, and an artist of many-sided genius, sculptor, painter, architect.

The Incredible Journey — Sheila Burnford. A story of three beloved housepets, who find their way home 300 miles across the Canadian wilderness. This book will appeal to lovers of adventure and lovers of nature. But, basically it is meant for everyone of every age, who has ever been owned by an animal.

The New English Bible (New Testament) A completely new translation the fruit of 13 years of research and the cooperation of the leading Protestant churches in the British Isles.

The Savage My Kinsman — Elizabeth Elliot. The author tells of her return, with her small daughter Valerie, to the Ecuadorian jungle to preach the gospel to the murderous Auca tribe who had massacred five missionaries-one of whom was her husband.

Vacuum your rugs often. Grit tracked in and allowed to settle between the fibers is what makes a rug wear out. Never shake or beat rugs, or you will break and ravel the fibers.

Bagworms on Ornamentals

Troubled with bagworms on ornamentals? Specialists at VPI say spraying in early June when worms are small, and virtually invisible, before much damage is done, is a good idea. Use arsenate of lead at the rate of 4 pounds per 100 gallons of water, or 2 to 3 tablespoons per gallon of water.

The rate and extent of egg spoilage is increased by washing eggs in water that contains a high concentration of iorn, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This discovery helps solve a mystery that has plagued egg producers for years — why washing seems to increase spoilage in some instances, but not in others.
